Le Paris de Marcel Proust, l'exposition au Musée Carnavalet

Visio-conference en Français, direct de Paris par Zoom, pour commémorer le 100^e anniversaire de la mort de Marcel Proust, (1871-1922).

Ce programme est consacré aux rapports de Marcel Proust à Paris, où se déroule l'essentiel de son existence. L'exposition "Marcel Proust, un roman parisien" interroge pour la première fois la place de la ville dans le roman proustien de Marcel Proust, "À la recherche du temps perdu."

Notre guide conférencière, Catherine Richard-Leduc vous accompagne, avec les diapositives, dans un voyage au cœur de l'œuvre et de l'histoire de la capitale, entre réel et réinvention.
